

A CLEAR Workshop on Technology in the Language Classroom will be hosted by Oklahoma Baptist University, Saturday, September 20th from 10:00 am to 3:30 pm. The general theme is integrating interactive technology into the foreign language classroom with the focus on a general overview of the CLEAR tools, especially using audio drop boxes and mashups.

A little information about CLEAR: "The Center for Language Education and Research (CLEAR) at Michigan State University offers onsite workshops for foreign language instructors. These onsite workshops bring members of CLEAR's professional development staff to K-13+ institutions across the country" (quoted from the CLEAR website).

Check out their website: <http://clear.msu.edu/clear/>

The workshop is open to OBU instructors and language teachers across the state. Please pass on this information to interested teachers. Space is limited, so early registration is advised. The workshop fee is $35. For further information contact Dr. David E. Nagle: david.nagle@okbu.edu
